As a 1972 BFA graduate in sculpture from The University of Tennessee, it was an honor to jury the alumni sculpture exhibition Irons in the Fire. This exhibition expresses a wide diversification of approaches to sculpture—not only in the use of materials but in the concepts of three-dimensional exploration.

Irons in the Fire demonstrates visual depth and reach from UTK's stellar sculpture program. These artworks also benefit from a sensitive and perceptive placement of the work in the Ewing Gallery of Art. The artists in this exhibition insure an impact on sculpture in the future.
